ClickN' Kids has developed the world's most comprehensive online Beginning Reading Program, ClickN' Kids. Their scientifically based instruction is derived from the extant research literature on effective reading instruction, National Academy of Sciences and National Reading Panel.

The ClickN' READ curriculum, developed by J. Ron Nelson, Ph.D., includes 100 carefully sequenced online lessons to ensure that students acquire the phonemic awareness, alphabetic understanding and automaticity skills necessary for reading success. Each 20 to 30 minute lesson consists of 6-14 instructional activities and incorporates strategically connected stories selected to match the skills being taught. Non-Readers without prior computing skills are able to use the program independently and acquire proficient reading skills.

Additional online programs are currently being developed to include math, science, geography, and spelling among others.

The LA Triathlon is no longer just an event, now it's a brand!

The LA Triathlon, with approximately 3,000 competitors from around the world, is the second largest Olympic Distance Triathlon in this country and is on its way to become the largest Olympic Distance Triathlon in the world. It incorporates swimming, cycling, and running to produce a spectacular event for the 10,000 spectators, local radio stations, and other media in the area. Incorporated in 1988 as the LA Sports Council, this non-profit organization serves as a bidding agent to bring major sporting events to the five-county Los Angeles area.

Bradford Licensing Associates is pleased to be working with LA Sports to bring this brand to the retail marketplace. Current licensing opportunities include footwear, headwear, accessories, novelties/collectibles, and sporting goods.

LA Triathlon is expected to be found locally throughout souvenir shops, gift shops, grocery stores, supermarkets, and airport shops. Eventually LA Triathlon will expand nationally and in turn globally.

For more information about the LA Triathlon licensing program, please visit their website at <http://lasports.org/> and contact Nicole Iozzi, Nicole.Iozzi@bradfordlicensing.com.
